INBOX OUTBOX

Inbox/Outbox covers every aspect of using, managing and monitoring inbound and outbound email. The target audience comprises a mix of senior Technologists & Marketing Professionals, who have come to rely on email (and related technologies) as a business-critical method of communication. The event format includes an extensive range of industry seminars and workshops, to which all delegates have free access. Now in its 3rd successful year, we have confirmed the need for an event dedicated to email management and established Inbox/Outbox as Europe's Leading Email Event.

Over the past three decades, Information Technology has grown to become an indispensable business tool for all types of organisation around the globe. Digital solutions will undoubtedly play a key role in the race to prevent global warming - but the proliferation of datacentres, desktop equipment and mobile technology is also having a significant environmental impact.

To make sure that technology does not become a net contributor to the problem, the IT industry and end-user communities now need to focus on minimising the resources consumed by manufacturing, running and disposing of IT equipment whilst working together to realise its huge potential to deliver more sustainable business practices in the future.

Green IT Expo provides a unique chance to get your own IT strategy in order and learn about the significant opportunities emerging from the new wave of sustainable computing techniques.

This ground-breaking conference will showcase the work of the Local Wellbeing Project, an unrivalled three year initiative jointly led by the Young Foundation, the Improvement and Development Agency and Professor Lord Richard Layard, from the LSE's Centre for Economic Performance. The project is aimed at testing out practical ways of improving public wellbeing in three very different areas of the UK – Hertfordshire, Manchester and South Tyneside. This work remains the most comprehensive exercise to date on public policy from a wellbeing perspective.
